The National Commission on Correctional Health Care is hosting their spring conference in New Orleans this year. They typically have this conference in Las Vegas or Atlanta, so being this close to home allows me to drive to the conference instead of paying for a flight. For several years there was a conference for Texas Jail Nurses, this has been shut down since prior to Covid-19. I have reached out many times to see if they would reschedule, but I typically get no response. While I know it would seem better to go to an in-state conference there simply isn't a conference of this kind in Texas. This is a great opportunity for me to meet and mingle with others in my position. I feel it would be beneficial to have a network of Health Services Administrators, Director of Nursing, Nurse Managers, etc., to confer with when its needed. Correctional Healthcare is a specialty many don't know how to handle and going to a conference with like-minded medical professionals will allow me the opportunity to establish relationships that could help the facility. There will also be vendors there that I can talk with. At this time most of my medical supplies come from Henry Schein. I am hopeful that I can find better deals from other vendors. I plan on attending seminars that will give me information that will be helpful for myself and my team. Some of these seminars will talk about burnout and retention. This is something all nurses have struggled with over the last 3 years. Also, things as simple as documentation and interrupting an EKG. I look forward to attending this conference to broaden my knowledge and share that with my team.
